

Dr. Thamir Alshammari is an advisor to the President of the Saudi Food and Drug Authority (SFDA). He is a pharmacoepidemiology and pharmacovigilance consultant. He is also a distinguished expert for the Chinese National drug safety and policy center at Xian, China. He is a senior research at the Medication Safety Research Chair. Dr. Alshammari served dean of college of pharmacy, University of Hail and also as the director of the national pharmacovigilance and drug safety center, Saudi Food and Drug Authority (SFDA). He has several initiative during his work at SFDA including reviewing process, benefit-risk analysis, DHCPLs and others. He is a member in several committees and he serve as a chair in some of them.

Dr. Alshammari Has over 56 publications in peer reviewed journals and been invited for many national and international conferences and meetings. Dr. Alshammari received his bachelor degree in pharmaceutical sciences from king saud university. He also got his master degree in clinical pharmacy from the same school. Dr. Alshammari received his PhD in pharmacoepidemiology and pharmacoeconomics from university of Rhode Island, USA.

Dr. Alshammari did several fellowships including post doctoral fellowship at Office of Surveillance and Epidemiology, US Food and Drug Administration (FDA). He was the only Saudi who did a post-doctoral fellowship at the FDA. Further he did a pre doctoral fellowship at veterans affair hospitals, USA. In addition, he did several summer internship at US FDA.

His area on research interests include pharmacoepidemiology, pharmacovigilance and medication safety and Pharmacoeconomics.